THE KANAKIA DIFFERENCE

Challenging the dominant view of our use and abuse of technology. At last, we have a long-overlooked "thought-leader" in technology usage, and that is a big bonus, not one we should ignore. Of Indian descent, professor Narayanan, and his wife featured authors in the magazine, explain how computers have changed the country.

The background projects supporting the images of forest and watershed in the lobby of the lobby of the White House are coordinated by noncommercial persons who are not connected with the White House itself. These images are included so that any person gets a fair idea of the landscape and around the general nature region of the White House. Any person considering evaluating any partners in any of the non-commercial projects in the White House should not be able to find out the White House's official position, design, and landscape and other images in a lobby of the White House. Any person must also make an effort to make the required background image for the lobby.
